

Nurse Reskilling Program

10th July – 4th August 2023 (4-week program)

Program Aim:

The Nurse Reskilling Program aims to prepare the qualified RN/EN for return to work in the acute care setting after a period of absence, through education and supported clinical practice.

Program Description:

This four-week program is ideal for RN/ENs who have maintained their AHPRA registration but have been absent from the acute care environment and wish to regain those skills. It is a blended educational package which includes a combination of self-directed learning modules, face-face education and simulation and supervised clinical practice in the Mackay Hospital and Health Service.

Who Should Apply?

- Registered and Enrolled Nurses who have a current registration with Australian Health Practitioners Regulation Agency (AHPRA), have been absent from the acute care setting and wish to refresh their contemporary clinical skills.
- The applicant will be required to commit to 4 weeks (5 days a week) of supervised learning and the completion of pre-reading Modules of Learning and Qld Health Mandatory Modules prior to commencement.

Fees:

Application is free, but successful applicants will be charged a course fee of $300.00.

How to Apply:

Applicants are to forward a letter expressing an interest to nicole.armitage2@health.qld.gov.au

Include the following with your expression of interest:

- ☐ A current curriculum vitae detailing clinical work history
- ☐ Evidence of current registration with Australian Health Practitioners Regulation Agency (AHPRA)
- ☐ Evidence of the appropriate citizenship/residency requirements (if applicable)

Positions are limited, so successful applicants will be awarded according to merit and will be asked to provide further evidence of:

- ☐ Personal Indemnity insurance
- ☐ Immunisation status
- ☐ Proof of ID and passport photo for a security pass
